Nazi Retreat All Along Soviet Front

Taganrog Abandoned: New Russian Offensive In Kursk: Germans Being Forced To Give Up Advanced Bases

LONDON, August 30.

The German radio to-day reported the launching of strong Soviet attacks supported by numerous combat planes south-west and west of Sevsk on the Kursk front and south-west of Vyazma and south of Byeli on the Smolensk front. At several points where breaches were made violent fighting continues.

MOSCOW: The German News Agency has announced: "The Germans have evacuated Taganrog on the Sea of Azov, north-west of Rostov. The Agency added that the evacuation of Taganrog took place on Sunday night.

From Reuter's special correspondent: The evacuation of Taganrog makes it clear that the whole of the right flank of the German army is compromised, and that the process of withdrawal has begun.

The pressure of the present Russian attack on the upper reaches of the Mius, particularly the threat to Stalino, as well as farther north the great Russian drive in the vicinity of Poltava are evidently forcing the German to withdraw their more advanced bases owing to the risk of seeing them cut off.

It is not only Taganrog which is in danger. The German position in the Donetz basin, the Crimea and the Kuban is involved.

From Reuter's staff correspondent: On the Kharkov front the Germans are sending formations of bombers in an attempt to hold up the Soviet offensive but the Red Air Force is breaking up all their attacks. Ten Soviet fighters ripped into one formation of 80 German planes and destroyed 22 of them. North-west of Kharkov the Germans are throwing special shock troops detachments into bitter counter-attacks but, says a frontline dispatch to the "Red Star", the Russians are beating off all counter-attacks and gaining one position after another". A frontline despatch quotes prisoners as saying that the Germans west of Kharkov were told "Hitler will never forgive you for losing Kharkov. You must wipe out this stain with your blood". The Germans fought with utmost bitterness for Lyubotin, the railway junction north-east of Poltava, whose capture was announced in the Soviet overnight "communique".

A frontline report to the "Pravda" today said Soviet troops continued their advance to the south-west, after capturing Lyubotin and covering up to seven and half miles in 24 hours and freeing dozens of villages from the Germans.—Reuter

There is a lesson to be learnt by Sweden from these events since they have proved how quickly unexpected situations may arise. EVERYTHING DEPENDS ON RETAKING BURMA

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—"The New York Times" in "A review of the week" says that there is nothing in Lord Louis Mountbatten's appointment to indicate that Allied strategy of defeating Germany first and Japan second has been changed but adds that "the growing Allied might may have opened the possibility of an earlier assault on Japan's positions.

Some British ships, once busy west, might, as the result of the Mediterranean victories, be spread for service in the east. In any grand assault on the Nipponese Empire Lord Louis' task would be an important one: To win back Burma and reopen the supply routes to the fronts in China. "If he is successful", offensives with China towards Japan become possible".—Reuter.

DISGRACE TO INDIA AND BRITAIN ALIKE

"The Statesman" of Calcutta in an editorial says:—

Confronted this year with numerous examples of maladministration in the Empire's "Second City," it has been our experience that until they are discussed in the Press nothing is done.

Scores of persons collapsing from under-nourishment are daily picked up from the streets; recorded deaths among starvation cases in hospitals between August 16 and August 25 were 143; 155 dead bodies are known to have been removed from the public thoroughfares by the authorities' new Corpse Disposal Squad during the 10 days ending on August 24; during the week ending August 21 mortality was 1,129 as against an average of 574 in the corresponding weeks of the previous five years. Cholera, epidemic since June, is again on the increase; there were 140 cases and 74 deaths during the seven days ending on August 21. Typhoid spreads; dysentery is exceptionally prevalent.

Bombay began food rationing months ago, whereas Calcutta (lying in the war zone, and obviously much more exposed to ill consequences from loss of Burma's rice exports) has not yet got it, and shameful little announcements have lately been published of journeys by officials from the "Second City" to learn from Bombay's methods.

That so important a Province as Bengal, lying conspicuously within the zone of hostilities, should have been allowed to slide into the present hideous economic mess is a disgrace not only to Indian public life but to the traditions of British rule. All that is noblest in Britain and India must disinterestedly and large-heartedly seek practical remedies forthwith.

BENGAL EYE-OPENER FOR FOOD MEMBER

Srivastava Realises India Govt.'s Responsibility And Hopes To Rush Supplies

CALCUTTA, August 30.

Sir J. P. Srivastava, Food Member of the Government of India, at the conclusion of his five days' visit to Calcutta told the 'Associated Press' that he was very distressed to see the condition prevailing in Bengal. He had no doubt in his own mind that Bengal's need was dire and brooked no delay. During his stay he had visited the highways and byways of Calcutta and seen the most distressing sights.

He had also inspected relief centres and cheap canteens which had been started both by Government and by various charitable institutions. He hoped to make some arrangement by which supplies of necessary food-stuffs might be more easily and plentifully obtained. The question of gratuitous relief in the mofussil was also receiving his best attention. He was convinced that conditions in some of the districts were appalling.

FOOD FIRST

He realised fully the responsibility of the Government of India towards Bengal and he gave a most emphatic assurance that he would do everything in his power to rush supplies to Bengal. He proposed visiting the Punjab immediately with a view to obtaining more foodgrains for Bengal by personal intervention. He wished to appeal to all surplus Provinces and their Governments to come forward and help Bengal in its present hour of need.

He was sorry that in the very nature of the matter he could not at th stage give more definite assurance.

FOR RELIEF

"Prabhat Feries" which will parade the streets singing songs and collect funds for the relief of distressed people in the present food situation are being organised by the President of the Dacca City Relief Committee. Charity football matches, cinema shows and dramatic performances are also being organised in aid of the relief fund.—A. P.

Rajaji's Appeal For Relief Of Bengal, Kerala And Royalseema

MADRAS, Aug. 30.

An appeal to the public to contribute their mite to relieve the distress caused by the famine conditions in Kerala, Royalseema and Bengal was made by Mr. C. Rajagopalachariar speaking at a meeting of the Madras Students' organisation in connection with the "Kerala Relief Day."

He said that there was terrible suffering in the famine affected areas. Even for a big city like Calcutta, ten or twenty deaths directly traced to starvation was no light matter. People developed cholera or some equally dangerous disease following starvation. What would be necessary in such circumstances was not merely inoculation against cholera, but distribution of proper food.

Mr. Rajagopalachariar congratulated the students' organisation on their efforts for the relief of the suffering people and he appealed to the public to support their efforts.—A. P.

"BAD FAITH"

Replying to Mr. Brenden Bracken's statement that the Indian political issue has been put in cold storage for the duration of the war on the ground that the controversies about it will impair war effort, Mr. C. Rajagopalachari warns Britain that "what in effect is put in cold storage is not political controversy but an important munition of war." Rajaji rightly points out that "no one can accept the argument that deep distrust and resentment created by the attitude of the British Government is good for the campaign proposed in Asia." It may be that the British Government think that the present progress in recruitment, production and war help in general is enough for the proposed offensive in areas outside India. But such an attitude ignores the danger of political discontent in India, introduces needlessly an element of risk in a momentous campaign and involves other countries like America and China in the risk. This is bad statesmanship, and Britain's sole responsibility for it will not confine the risks to Britain alone. It is difficult to believe that America and China are not alive to the dangers of British policy.

Moreover, India has the right to insist that she should have due control over her contribution in men and money. She will not accept the plea that this is no concern of hers, that it is not for her to reason why and that she has only to do and die. It was in fact the recognition by Britain, China and America of India's right to and need for freedom in the midst of the war that led to the Cripps scheme when the war position was worse than it is now. Hastes and dictatorial attitude on the part of Sir Stafford ruined the negotiations about the details of the scheme. It is idle now, as Rajaji points out, for Mr. Brenden Bracken to contend that taking up details of negotiations again would impair war effort. Such a plea is certainly "further evidence of bad faith." We wholeheartedly agree with Rajaji that "it is morally impossible for the British Government to discard my proposal that negotiations should be restarted at the stage where they broke off in April, 1942." But are the British politicians adequately alive to the moral issues involved in the question? And do they realise what capital countries like Japan will make of Britain's "bad faith" towards India?

It is interesting to note how much alike all imperialists are in defending Britain's policy in India. Dr. Mallon, Warden of Toynbee Hall, speaking in London on his recent tour of the United States, said how he tried to convince the Americans that "there was no quarrel between India and ourselves on the issue of liberty but only failure on the part of India, which need not continue, to create a representative and responsible body on which liberty could be devolved." But poor Dr. Mallon had to admit that America profoundly distrusted British policy and professions. "It is in the bones of Americans", he wailed, "to think of us as an imperialistic and feudal people. They find evidence of this in our treatment of India." It appears the Americans have not swallowed the story that Britain has offered India independence with both hands but the Indian leaders themselves have not agreed to accept the gift and keep on complaining that the imprisonment of Congress leaders hinders negotiations and agreement. Dr. Mallon may still say: "Though India's 'failure' to accept the gift has compelled us to put it in cold storage for the present, we shall, with our usual beneficence, offer, after the war, a fresh gift in the profound hope that all parties will then at least agree to accept it."

The Next Move

A broadcast which Mr. Churchill was to give on Sunday has been postponed to Tuesday. Probably this is also at least partly responsible for speculations in America regarding some important Anglo-American announcement. It is, further, thought to relate to the possibility of a "War and Peace" conference between the United States, Britain and Russia. Such a conference is long overdue and the sooner it takes place the better. For never was the need so urgent as now that the three Powers should remove their difference and formulate an agreed plan for dealing with Axis Europe both during the transition between war and peace and after. But these speculations are quite unauthoritative and, for the present, one can do no more than hope that they prove true. Since this Washington report, M. Maisky has arrived in London on a short visit. It is suggested that it has something to do with arranging a tripartite conference between Mr. Eden, M. Molotov and an American statesman of similar rank. Such a conference is very welcome because, as a British paper points out, a searching review of inter-allied relations is now necessary and urgent. But the conference is welcome only as a valuable preliminary to pave the way for a more important meeting between Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. It is this meeting which alone can finally establish friendship.

Meanwhile "authoritative military circles" in Washington are reported to have stated that "Mr. Churchill is returning to Britain with complete plans for a final offensive against Germany." In this connection some interesting details are also given regarding Germany's difficulties and "the momentous changes in Germany's war potential consequent on the fall of Fascism." It has been discovered, and there is no reason to doubt the truth of it, that Germany possesses no more than 800,000 men as "strategic reserve" and she needs a great part of this limited reserve for reinforcements in Russia and the Balkans. She will also need a good many men from it to resist the Allies in Italy. Thus the rest of the front—the whole Atlantic coast and southern France—is left weakly defended, which means that the time has arrived for Anglo-American forces to launch the "final offensive" against Germany. This is apart from the invasion of Italy which ought, indeed, to have been in full swing by now. The aerial preliminaries have been so effective that, according to report from Allied headquarters, southern Italy's entire railway system has been disorganised. The way is thus open for General Eisenhower to land in southern Italy. And if, as is reported, the Germans are rushing troops down to a region more favourable to the Allies, it should be all the more welcome in view of the shortage in Germany's manpower.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

A Nazi Bluff

German irritation against Sweden is understandable. Events in Denmark were bound to evoke sympathy in Sweden. This sympathy is not to the taste of the Nazis. Quite the contrary. Many "dangerous" Danes have found refuge in Sweden from where they can direct the revolt in Denmark, secondly, the Swedish Press gives publicity to events, and not those in Denmark, which the Nazis would fain suppress. Finally, Sweden had of late decided to change her attitude towards Germany from that of submission to one of cockiness. All this has exasperated the Nazis. Hence the threats to Sweden. But these threats were all right when the Nazis were winning all along the line. Now they are losing all along the line. They know it and they know that others including Sweden know it, too. They cannot mean anything serious by such threats because they have their hands already full. The very interesting question arises: What would happen if the Swedes called the Nazi bluff, as they should?

Double Betrayal

According to Reuter's Madrid correspondent, Spanish "semi-official circles" believe that the recent Hoare-Franco conversations brought out two interesting points: (1) renewed assurances by Britain that Spain's independence and territorial integrity as well as her colonies and protectorates would be respected and (2) complete absence of any threatening or unsympathetic attitude that might interfere with the Spanish Government's liberty of action. It is a noteworthy recognition by Spain of the change in the war situation that those who thought they could defy the enemies of the Axis with impunity both in words and in deed—unilateral action in Tangiers, for instance—need assurances of safety from those very Powers and welcome it. But the profoundly disappointing, even disgusting, thing is that the assurances—if the report is correct—should have been given as stated by "Spanish semi-official circles." What they amount to is a double guarantee of the preservation of Fascist Spain and the Empire of Spain, British Tories, while hating Hitler and Mussolini, maintain a soft corner for Fascism and most of them were openly sympathetic towards General Franco's revolt against Republican Spain. Moreover, Mr. Churchill, a passionate Imperialist, must feel inclined to support Spain's Imperialism if only because it offers another justification for his own Empire. But the assurances given by Sir Samuel Hoare—if correct, let us repeat—constitute a complete betrayal not only of the Atlantic Charter but also of the whole democratic principles for which Britain claims to be fighting this war.

Menace To World Peace

Sir Shafaat Ahmed Khan On S. African Indian Question

Call To Natal Congress To Move For Municipal And Parliamentary Franchise On A Common Roll

DURBAN, Aug. 30.

The Natal Indian Congress founded by Mr. Gandhi in 1894 and resuscitated to-day has been recognised by the Government of India which will discourage any attempt to create a rival organisation, Sir Shafaat Ahmed Khan, Indian High Commissioner, announced presiding at the inaugural meeting of the Congress.

"The Government of India think that the decision to form a united organisation is of great importance and most welcome. They will regard anyone who fosters or perpetuates disunity as rendering the Indian community a great disservice."

Dr. Khan emphasised that as about 85 per cent of the local Indians were born and bred in South Africa there should be no divided allegiance and Indians should be wholly devoted to the political and economic interests of South Africa which has given them sustenance.

"I realise it is difficult to evoke sentiments of devotion when numerous discriminatory laws restrict activity in many directions. This, I believe, to be a passing phase, for, this country contains many Europeans of goodwill and understanding".

MENACE TO WORLD PEACE

Discussing the "Pegging" Act, Dr. Khan said: "The Indian question in South Africa has become a menace to world peace. Japan has been using it to rouse the whole of Asia. The German radio also used it while the feeling in England and other countries is no less strong. The "Pegging" Act is an ideal programme for the production of frustration and disappointment among Indians not really a solution of the pressing problem of housing and we have yet to find a remedy. The attitude of the Government of India on this subject has been clear from the outset. It has formally lodged an emphatic protest against a piece of legislation which is inconsistent with the Allied aims and inimical to the spirit of the new world which the Allies wish to construct after the war. It is my earnest hope that Indians throughout Natal will speak with one voice on this issue".

The need for adequate Indian housing has long been felt but no effort has yet been made. "Instead of the provision of amenities for Indians by which it will be possible for them to live with men of their race and culture, legislation has been passed to prevent what is termed penetration.

OPPOSITION TO SEGREGATION

My attitude on this point has always been clear. The Indian people and the Government of India are very strongly opposed to segregation and the effects of the "Pegging" Act are now visible not only in India but throughout the world". Indians should be eligible for Municipal and Parliamentary Bodies. It is easier for Indians and Europeans to adjust their differences as members of town councils than make trivial disputes a subject of acute political controversy between South Africa and India.

Dr. Khan urged the Congress to move for municipal and parliamentary franchise on a common roll without which the racial cleavage will continue to widen.

DOWN WITH DISCRIMINATORY LAWS

Dr. Khan said that no influential section of the Indian community was unrepresented in the revival of the Indian Congress. It was necessary to remember the need for co-operation among Indians and Europeans and the need to work for freedom from discriminatory laws. The Congress should work for freedom from the Industrial colour bar. Attempts might be made to divide the Indians on economic or religious grounds, but he was convinced that these would fail miserably since youth was uninterested in the personal quarrels of a few leaders.

The motion in appreciation of the services of Dr. Khan and others for achieving Indian unity in Natal was adopted.—Reuter.

Khare On Limitations Of Reciprocity Act

BOMBAY, Monday.

The Department of Overseas, Government of India, was already engaged in the drafting of the rules and regulations under the Reciprocity Act which would come into operation on September 1, said the Hon. Dr. N. B. Khare, Member, Indians Overseas Department, Government of India, in an interview to-day.

Dr. Khare said that though technically the Act would come into operation on September 1, it would take sometime before the rules were framed to meet the exigencies of a particular or general nature. Once the rule-making task was completed, Dr. Khare did not think there would be any difficulty in applying the same in regard to South Africa.

He personally believed that even if all the provisions in the Act were applied against South Africa it would only be a fleabite. The main difficulty was that India was a dependency and her Government was a subordinate one and hence the steps India took were naturally circumscribed. Nevertheless he claimed that in the passing of the Reciprocity Act the Government of India for the first time stood up in defence of Indian nationals abroad. That in itself was something.

EXPORTS STOPPED

Referring to the food scarcity in the country Dr. Khare said that all the members of the Government of India were equally concerned in the problem. Government of India had convened a conference to discuss the problem. The discussions were comprehensive and the conference had made certain recommendations which were now being studied by the Government. To meet the present crisis Government had taken steps to rush food grains available in surplus areas to the deficit provinces and export of food grains from India and been completely stopped.

During his week's stay in the city Dr. Khare will inspect the arrangements made for the welfare of refugees, a large number of whom are staying in the Surat and Ahmedabad districts and also meet the local Haj Committee.

TWO STUDENTS ACQUITTED OF ATTEMPTED SABOTAGE

LAHORE, Aug. 30.

Giving them the benefit of doubt Mr. Justice Mohammad Munir, Vacation Judge of the Lahore High Court, acquitted to-day two students of the Government High School, Bhiwani, in the District of Hissar, who had been sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment each on a charge of attempting to remove the fish-plates of the railway line near Bhiwani.

Mr. Justice Mohammad Munir accepted the revision petition to-day and acquitted both the accused.—A. P.

Frontier Politicals May Be Released

PESHAWAR, Aug. 30.

The possibility of the release of political prisoners in the Frontier Province with a few exceptions was indicated by Khan Saminjan, Minister of Jails in an interview to the "Associated Press". The Minister is leaving for Harpur Jail on September 1 when he will personally meet the prisoners and try to redress their genuine grievances. He will then proceed to Abbottabad where he will visit Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan, Mr. Mohammad Yunus and other political prisoners who are reported to be ill.—A. P.

M. L. A. Jailed For Hunger-Strike

GORAKHPUR, Aug. 30.

Mr. Shibbanlal Saksena, M.L.A. (U. P.), has been convicted and sentenced to one year's R. I. under Sec. 52 of the U. P. Prisons Act by Khan Sahib Habib Ahmad Siddiqi, Sub-Divisional Officer, Sadar.

Prosecution against Mr. Shibbanlal had been launched by the Superintendent of Jails, Gorakhpur.

It was alleged that the accused had gone on hunger-strike on the 29th March last and continued it upto 14th April. He was warned that the hunger-strike was a major jail offence. The accused had also refused to take food on a previous occasion.

In his defence Mr. Saksena stated that he had observed a four week fast from the 27th March to 24th April and that he had been forced to do so "because all his efforts to get his grievances redressed had proved ineffective and that the fast was, in fact, an appeal to God for justice."

Mr. Saksena had further raised two legal points. Firstly, he contended, that he was in the exclusive custody of the police and could not be governed by the jail rules and secondly that the local Government had no authority to declare wilful refusal to take food as a jail offence.

The Court observed that the local Government were within their right to declare wilful refusal to take food to be an offence.—A. P.

Mother's Allegations Against Police

(Before the Hon the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Rajadhyaksha.)

Narmadabai, widow of Namdev Wayal ..... Applicant

Versus

The King-Emperor ..... Respondent

This was an application in the nature of 'habeas corpus' under Section 491 of the Code of Criminal Procedure by the mother of one Bhalchandra Namdev Wayal who had been arrested at Poona on 22nd July, 1943.

The applicant's case was that prior to his arrest her son Bhalchandra was being persuaded by the Police to give certain evidence as a prosecution witness in the Capitol Bomb Case on the file of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Poona, and that he had been threatened with unpleasant consequences in the event of his not supporting the prosecution case. The applicant stated that on the date of his arrest he had been examined as a witness in that case and alleged that he was arrested as he came out of the Court where he had given evidence for no other reason except that in his evidence he told the truth and did not perjure himself as the Police wanted him to. As Bhalchandra had not been put up before any Magistrate for remand or for trial, it was contended on behalf of the applicant that if he was being detained under the Defence of India Rules, his detention was "mala fide" and that he should therefore be produced before their Lordships and be set at liberty.

Their Lordships issued a Rule to show cause against the application which will now come up for argument in due course.

Mr. H. R. Pardivala with Mr. B. G. Padhye appeared for the applicant.

KHAKSARS AND LEAGUE

Hassan Ispahani's Reply To Allama Mashrique

BOMBAY, August 29.

Mr. Hassan Ispahani, M. L. A. (Bengal) and Member of the Working Committee of the All-India Muslim League, has issued the following:

"The learned Allama Mashrique has had the temerity of issuing yet another statement calling upon the Quad-e-Azam to move if he wants Pakistan for the Muslim nation and gives him gratuitous advice to meet Mr. Gandhi or if the Viceroy refuses, then to meet "such Congress or Hindu leaders as Government consider best fitted to bring about a Hindu-Muslim settlement".

"The main point made in his latest statement is that Mr. Jinnah should on behalf of the League, make an effort for the immediate release of Mr. Gandhi. Why? Is he not in prison and is remaining there on an issue which the Mussalmans have since the passing of the 8th of August, 1942, resolution, considered inimical to their interests? The position has not altered an iota How then can Allama Mashriqui insist on the League or Mr. Jinnan to demand the release of Mr. Gandhi so long as there is no change of heart and policy on his part: and how can any Muslim be expected to move for the unconditional release of Mr. Gandhi and his colleagues so long as they are holding the pistol at the head of Muslim India? In these circumstances how can any negotiations bear fruit?

It is gratifying to observe that the word "Pakistan" has after all found a place in the Allama's head and heart. To this extent, it seems he is in sympathy with the sentiments and goals of the Muslims in India.

"If the Allama genuinely desires a Hindu-Muslim settlement, why does he not approach the Viceroy for permission to see Mr Gandhi and ascertain from him whether he is now agreeable to the Muslim demand for Pakistan. I am sure no one will welcome a settlement on that basis more than Mr Jinnah.—A. P.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST RAT POPULATION

City Fathers' Move And Commissioner's Assurance

Mr. B. N. Karanjia presided at the Municipal Corporation on Monday and disposed of a few items of June agenda. Mr. Mirza Akhtar Hassan moved and Mr. Mohanlal M. Desai seconded to request the Medical and Public Health Committee to report on the desirability of creating a special staff to make an immediate and effective campaign against the growing population of rats and to take other suitable measures in that connection.

Dr. S. P. Mehta said there was no reason to take alarming view as lacs of rats were examined at the Haffkine Institute every year and not one plague stricken rat was found.

Mr. Gordhandas Morarji blamed the citizens who dumped refuse and stale food into gullies and bye-lanes which bred rats in thousands. If the citizens realised their responsibilities, there would be no rats in the city he said.

Mr. Jamnadas M. Mehta quoted an authority who stated that a pair of rats would breed 62,500 million rats in three years.

The Municipal Commissioner assured the House that the Health Department were taking every precaution possible for the destruction of rats. Every year, he said several lacs of rats were destroyed by the Health Department.

The resolution was carried.

ONE MORE CONGRESSMAN LOSES SEAT

Professor D. R. Gharpure having absented himself from the Municipal Corporation for one year, has lost his seat as a municipal corporator. This brings the number of the Congressmen who are unseated on account of their absence in the Corporation for one year to sixteen.

A British War Correspondent has just discovered for the benefit of the Chinese that it's no use wasting valuable Allied men and material in an attempt to clean up Burma. He assures them —now—that "the Burma Road is not and never has been an ideal route for supplying China with heavy equipment in sufficient quantities to ensure the final liquidation of the Japanese threat". (our italics).

The Chinese should humbly offer their apologies to this gentleman for having dared all these years to think that they knew better what they needed, how and why.

They would, we recognise, find it slightly difficult to understand the logic and honesty of an argument that answers the case for the supply of the minimum for existence by urging the impossibility of destroying the existence of the enemy with it. But they may take it from us that it is quite a normal logic. WE know.

"There are" adds the same correspondent with relish, "exciting days in store for India....."

We agree. The situations calls for a thorough search of all incriminating material.

Great news comes from the South West Pacific theatre. The Japs have fled from New Georgia and Allied troops have occupied Bairoko.

What is more the campaign for the next outlying post has already begun in the air. This is tremendous progress. There are only about umpteen such posts and bases now left to be captured for the Allies to start operations against—the second series of outer defences of Japan.

MAHASABHAITES TO WAIT UPON GOVERNOR

The Half-Column "By Dim"

Jockey Carr rode very well on "Prince Buland" on Saturday and cleverly took the opening he got between "Big Joy" and the rails. This little jockey can be relied upon by any gambling stable to use his dash and judgment to advantage.

Other racing news from Poona includes the sad news that "Ushama", Mr. Sigtia's great Arab, will not be able to contest in the Governor's Cup as he has had a little trouble with his legs. Which is rather a pity because it would have made the race more exciting to watch.

* * *

Bookies did not look very happy though they were feeling better after Toofan Mail and Alijah had let down a great public following.

Alijah's race was won in a canter by his stable companion Camphor, which raises the question: "Isn't it about time they adopted the idea of forcing the owner of more than one candidate to declare his preference by first, second and third caps?" We are only too glad to see any owner win race after race, but how much more popular Gwalior would be if he declared his caps.

* * *

Steward A. L. Hudson scored a very popular win with "Passing Bell" (spelt without the E) though Sibbritt caused much "popular" anxiety by leaving his effort to the last moment. Inquiries reveal he was a classical scholar of some distinction at Cambridge, which I am told is almost as good as the same school at Oxford. Hudson however, looks Oxford and charming. He wears beige corduroys.

Ask these luxury-loving people who use Vinolia regularly, and they'll tell you what a wonderfully comfort-making soap it is . . . what a boon it is in the hot weather. Its creamy lather is cooling, refreshing. Its distinctive scent is stimulating, exhilarating. It acts as a tonic, they say, to tired senses and nerves.
